

ARTWORKS4RESEARCH AUCTION+EXHIBITION

27 February 2016

Communities are defined by their methods of resilience. This exhibition was proposed as a fundraiser for cancer research and support for Trish Robson, senior art teacher at Coolum High, who had begun a battle with cancer. Between treatments she produced work, using the making of art as a cathartic process, and through the exhibition, discovering other travellers on the journey with health. Art can heal, can explain, can bring together, can reflect communitiy resilience.

Crow

Pencil drawing
One of my favourite memories of Trish during my school years is that she would always talk to the crows, something quirky and strange to most, but it always made sense to me. This art work is dedicated to her strength, kindness and the positive influence that she has had on all of those around her.

Bride

Acrylic and enamel on wood panel

Bride is part of a series of images depicting palms and pines on the Sunshine Coastal strip. Its iconic format represents the typical young palm that populates so much of the area. Its fresh and full of life bursting with the promise of the future.

Vivienne

Hand built & Raku fired with Copper Penny Lustre

The perfect title for this piece is "Vivienne" which is my mothers name, she tragically died from leukaemia 20 years ago.

I am now the same age she was when she died and it's an appropriate occasion to honour her memory.

Sunflowers

Acylic on canvas

I have recently started painting again after a 28yr hiatus and am finding my feet. This painting was done last October while I was undergoing treatment for Inflammatory Breast Cancer. It gave me a bit of a lift and perhaps someone else will see it that way too.
